BEST WISHES FOR PEACE IN 1957

The dawn will soon be breaking on another brand new year. Old 1956 is about to pass into history, a year fraught with trials and troubles at various spots in a world whose atmosphere has been kept chilled by a cold war with a continuous threat to become a shooting action.

While some shooting has actually taken place, we are indeed thankful that the weapons used have been confined to the conventional type and not the atomic. The world has had cause to be jittery at times. But so far, even the dictators have kept their heads and refrained from going too far.

As the sunrise of 1957 rises over the horizon we can but wonder what is in store for the nations of a world whose scientists have searched for and found and harnessed powers that if wrongly used could destroy civilization. The awful specter of the possibilities for the future could cause us to take a gruesome view of the outlook.

After all, however, we can know that the sinister powers that rule and enslave the hordes of unhappy people behind the various curtains that obstruct the view of those without, become desperate, as individuals they would be in need of an accomplice to carry out their destructive deeds.

So our prayer, as we approach the New Year, is that the world which we created and rules the universe will, by its own power, overcome the powers of destruction and give to His servants on earth the brotherly love that can conquer the spirit of evil and bring peace once more to mankind. To that end may the will of the people be the will of Him who is the Prince of Peace.

OVERCOMING BARRIERS TO PROGRESS

As time goes on the natural resources of our country are being progressively developed and better utilized to improve the standard of living of our people. Likewise, those natural barriers to the physical progress of cities and other populated areas are being removed or overcome as resources increase in value.

This country's recently inaugurated road building program promises to result in the biggest effort ever put forth by this or any other country to smooth the terrain and level off the hills that obstruct travel. Incidentally, this program of construction work will furnish additional employment for residents of communities all over the country, thus playing a major part in the national economy during the ensuing decade.

In addition to this outstanding, extensive road construction program, there are other construction projects figuring in the development of this great land of America. One, the largest now under way is the St. Lawrence Seaway, bringing ocean-going freighters into the very interior of the country. Plans are being considered between the Mississippi and Ohio valleys is also making work and better living conditions in the midwest.

The City of Mayville, Ky., has just recently been the recipient of a $700,000 floodwall, whose building took between seven and eight years, for the protection of its municipal area.

The Public Ledger of Mayville has issued a special souvenir edition in connection with the celebration by that community of the floodwall's completion. Speaking editorially of the former menace of Old Man River, the Public Ledger declared in part:

"Now that the situation has been rectified by construction of a floodwall, we will be able to take our place as a progressive community, a community where people are healthy, happy and contented, a community where we have moved the scourge of devastating floods. It will mean much to us to be able to live the remainder of our lives undisturbed by the river. Ultimately, it will mean more industry and more employment."

SOUTH'S ANSWER AS TO POLITICS

Adlai Stevenson, defeated Democratic presidential candidate, on a vacation hunting trip in North Carolina last week, was quoted as saying: "It's about time that a lot of people in the South decided whether they are Democrats or Republicans."

Let's get this matter straight, as to who has deserted whom, and who is a Democrat, nowadays. . . .

Wake up to the truth, Mr. Stevenson, and all you liberal Democrats—and Republicans. The United States was not founded and built to greatness, on such an ideology, and the full embracement of socialism will carry us to eventual ruin just as socialism's big brother, communism, will eventually carry Russia down to destruction.

As the Times stated long before the election, the South had no party to vote for this time. If it had not been for the fact that we felt it best, choosing between two evils, to have a Democratic Congress along with Ike, who was re-elected on his personal popularity and not because he is a Republican, the liberal Democrats would hardly have carried a Southern state, as well as no others, this time.

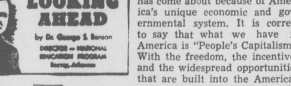

For instance, in South Carolina, the combined vote of the Independents and Republicans totaled 36,000 more than the vote given Stevenson-Keafauver; but in the meantime, we gave an almost unanimous vote to our State Democratic congressmen and senators—because most of them are real Democrats, Adlai, and not leftists. There is your answer. . . .

And we can say, "We told you so!" Adlai, as to the running mate that was selected for you. Southerners, nor any party or the nation could stomach such a traitor to his native South as was Top Integrationist-Leftist Estes Keafauver. What more complete condemnation can a candidate have than when his next door neighbors and homefolks vote against him? The so-called Democratic team lost one of our Tennessee, Keafauver's home state; Hamilton County (Chattanooga, where he practiced law before going to Congress) went against him over 6,000; Monroe County and Madisonville, Tenn., his birthplace gave the G. O. P. a 1,000 majority, and worst of all, Lookout Precinct, where he lives and cast his vote, threw for Ike and Dick and 163 for Adlai and Estes! . . . —Calhoun Falls (S.C.) Times.

THE AMERICAN WAY

CRAPPIE FISHING AT KENTUCKY LAKE
Crappie fishing at Kentucky Lake, which has shown steady improvement during the past several weeks, is now rated excellent.
Willingsness of the fish to bite is being proven daily by the large numbers of persons taking home limit catches.
Mrs. Ben Kilgore, director of state parks, said reports coming to her office indicate crappie fishing is better than at anytime during the year. She reminded prospective anglers contemplating a trip to Kentucky Lake that there are both cottage and hotel accommodations available at Kentucky Dam Village and Kentucky State Parks.
Both parks offer complete dock facilities and fishing supplies including licenses may be purchased at the docks.
First shipment of the 1956 edition of the Kentucky Revised Statutes arrived this week for distribution to various state departments and the general public.
The new edition of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, published by the Legislative Research Commission offices.
Lieut. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, chairman and director of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, said "every effort will be made to expedite handling of requests for the edition."
The K.R.S., official State publication of statutory laws of Kentucky, is published in three volumes, each with a separate loose part, Orin F. Taylor, executive assistant said.
This summer of publication was voted by the State Bar Association, said Taylor "enabling the entire statutes republished."
Not only will considerable savings be made, Taylor explained, but it will enable the commission to get revised materials more promptly into hands of attorneys.
To complete a one-year study of the laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the University of Kentucky.
The grant will be made from a $25,000 appropriation given the Department of Economic Development by the 1955 Legislature to be used for agriculture research projects.
George E. Hobbie, commissioner of the Department of Economic Development, in announcing the grant, said there is a growing concern over the effect of increased tobacco will have on Kentucky bubble production.
The Highway Department's reorganization plan, recommended by Commissioner Robert Humphrey and Chief Engineer Dwight H. Bray, has been approved by Gov. A. B. Chandler.
The reorganization which is directed at preventing politics from impeding highway projects will be completed by January 1.
Broad purpose of the reorganization is to enable inevitable problems, both from inside and outside the state government, to be absorbed in certain areas of the Highway Department without impairing road-building efficiency.
Humphreys and Bray agreed that the time has come when highway employees, especially those in professional or technical positions, should be affected "as soon as Governor Chandler thinks the time is right to go forward with the very progressive step which will long have advocated."

Daily
Hill folks. After being a very busy person with so many different activities, I would like to take the time to write with the Jeffersonian staff, correspondents and readers a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
Miss Pearl Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fisher, still continues to be quiet ill. Sorry to hear that although the doctor has changed her medicine several times little improvement has been made.
Mr. and Mrs. Leo Greenwell had as dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Van Greenwell and son, Joe, Callie in the afternoon were Miss Joan Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thorne and Jimmie and Mr. Joe Linnett.
The Paul Owen family has been sick with the flu. Hope they will be well by Christmas.
The writer received a Christmas card from Mrs. Maude Jenkins. She is spending the winter with her daughter in Washington. Mrs. Jenkins is well and fine but would like to be home with her many friends.
Mrs. Bertha Harshfield spent Thursday night with her sister, George Hafer, and Mr. Hafer.
Mrs. Ollie Cooper recently celebrated her 84th birthday anniversary. With this young lady many more happy anniversaries.
Mrs. Edith Sey, the only sister of Mrs. Ollie Thorne, suffered a light heart attack last Thursday. She is getting along fine.
Miss Bernice Thorne was a Friday evening visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Estel Hamilton, and family.
The writer had a very pleasant surprise Monday afternoon when she received a gift of two beautiful orchids from the Beland Flower Shop. Many thanks for the lovely orchids.

The Big Shrinkage

LOOKING AHEAD

By Dr. George L. Brown, Editor of THE JEFFERSONIAN

WHO OWNS AMERICA

Who owns America? Big business? The Communist and Socialist agitators would repeat "Wall Street, or a few rich capitalists!" The home-grown political demagogue would say "The selfish vested interests, the privileged few." The well-intentioned do-gooder would say: "The fortunate few." What would you say? The answer is vitally important because it tells us how we live in, a combination of forces seek to drastically change the American economic and political structure — with our individual freedom at stake.
Here's the answer: American business is owned by 6,000,000 men and women, most of them with incomes of less than $7,500 a year and living in the small towns of America. When all business in America is counted — big, medium-sized and little — there are nearly 15,000,000 owners.
Details of Ownership
A recent study of the question "Who Owns American Business" showed that approximately one out of every 12 adults in America owns an interest in some corporation whose stocks are listed in Wall Street, and that about one out of every five or six employed persons in America have a financial interest in some company.
Here are some of the details: For the first time (in 1950) women outnumber men as stock owners in corporations — by a margin of 5.6 per cent to 48.4. Approximately 12 per cent of the shareholders have incomes under $3,000 per year. Twenty-six per cent have incomes from $3,000 to $5,000; and 26 per cent have incomes from $5,000 to $7,500.
America's typical shareholder is 48 years old, three years younger than his counterpart just four years ago. But among the people who become shareholders for the first time during the last 35 years, the average age is 35. The typical shareholder is a high school graduate and lives in a community of about 25,000.
Other Wealth
We can add to this widespread corporate ownership the fact: The farms of America are owned by 25,000,000 people; the houses of America, worth $20 billion, are owned by approximately 100 million people; our 50 million automobiles are owned by nearly 40 million people. In fact the whole wealth of America is distributed out among the whole adult population.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

All Things New

Lesson for December 28, 1956

ON THE verge of New Year's Eve, our thoughts go forward to the New Year. But what will be new about it? We shall mostly have to "make do" with what we have, rather than find much that is brand-new. We shall be the same people. Sleeping between Dec. 31 and Jan. 1 is not going to change us a great deal. We shall live in the same house.
We shall have the same neighbors, the same problems, temptations, brains, bodies, bank accounts (if any), tax bills, and debts.
What we can have that is new is a new attitude to some of these things. But that is another story. What we have to think about is another of the great chapters of the Bible, the one in which come the thrilling words, "Behold, I am making all things new. And they shall be like in that 'new heaven and new earth' which is described here in shining pictures the very last chapter of the Bible!"
Death Behind Us
In that life wherein all things are made new, not by clumsy machinery but by the power of God, what will be especially new—if you like, absolutely new, so new we shall not perhaps easily become used to it? First we can see a complete change in the things that are behind us. In that death will be always in the past, never in the future. The one thing that is certain about life on earth is that we shall all die. Death is the one certain prediction that can be made about the future. It reads these lines (or, if Christ should come in your lifetime, you would understand all forms of life, just as radical as death itself, in any case). But in that world where death is no longer a barrier, every one, not in front; a memory, not a hope or a fear. The one experience that unites all men in this world is one which they have not yet had. But in that world of the redeemed, the experience of death is one they all shall have had. We cannot even imagine this, just how it will be. But think how much activity in this world is based on one object alone—to stave off death. All that will vanish with death is this world.
Evil No More
Another absolutely and unimaginably new thing will be the complete absence of all forms of evil, ignorance and sin. No doubt, sin and evil have done much harm to the world, but they do not weigh upon us here quite so painfully as the other two. No matter what your sins are, about sin and suffering, what they are and where they came from, you have to admit that sin and suffering is woven of these threads. At this very moment every reader's life is being radically changed. If he himself has never sinned, and as for our neighbors' sins, and the sins of our ancestors, the world has inherited is a vast wasteland and controlled by sinners. It is only by the mercy of God that it is not worse than this. It is to think that life would be if there were no sin, that a turkey would be if he himself had never sinned, and as for our neighbors' sins, and the sins of our ancestors, the world has inherited is a vast wasteland and controlled by sinners. It is only by the mercy of God that it is not worse than this. It is to think that life would be if there were no sin, that a turkey would be if he himself had never sinned, and as for our neighbors' sins, and the sins of our ancestors, the world has inherited is a vast wasteland and controlled by sinners. SEEK YE FIRST THE KINGDOM

TIME RUNNING OUT!

New Year's Eve and four minutes 'til midnight. It is time to total your failures, to calculate your successes, and to make bonafide resolutions. Did this year bring a spiritual surplus for you? Do you have a clearer view of destiny? Do you know more of the meaning and purpose of life? Have you had time for God? If not, it will be a terrible day, when God has no time for you. As the New Year dawns, we know God is in front. He will be in all the tomorrows. Happy New Year!

Dairy Cow Freshening Best In Fall Or Winter

Dairy farmers should plan breeding programs to have cows and heifers freshen in the fall or early winter, according to specialists of the U.S. Agricultural Extension Service.

Fall or winter-freshening animals yield more milk, and fat, DHIA records show. Also, farmer work is slackest in winter time can be given the cows are dry in hot summer months when pastures are usually short, production is up when milk prices are better, the hired-help work load is better distributed, and fall calves are large enough by spring to make good use of pasture and can stand hot weather better.

In breeding programs, farmers also should consider the heifer's age and size, the size and age of the bull, and the feeding program, and should check on heat pads, setting records of the heifer, and keeping good breeders.

A NEWS ITEM: Phone Jeffersontown 5-5143.

Moser Cow Completes Fine Production Test

A special report of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Battleboro, Vt., announces the completion of an official production record by a registered Holstein cow in the herd of John A. Moser, Worthington.

The University of Kentucky supervised the weighing and testing of this record which compares with an annual production of only 5,815 pounds of milk and 224 pounds of butterfat by the average U.S. cow.

The tested animal is Moser Pride Lucy 342430, milked twice daily for 355 days and producing an annual production of milk and 555 pounds of butterfat as a 3-year old.

"Three strokes and out" is not true. Many patients have survived many strokes, and new studies have extended lives of patients with ailing brain blood vessels as much as 10 years.

BUY-NOTES ON FOOD

From Extension Service, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

An old proverb has it that two things can ruin a home—a leaky roof and a cross homemaker. Undoubtedly there is some truth in this proverb, but the cause might be better served if the word "cross" were preceded by the adjective "tired." "Tired" describes all of us at the moment, but all too often it fits many homemakers the year 'round.

The homemaker's job covers a lot of territory, but its nerve center is the kitchen. She is more or less tied to the spot where her working equipment is installed, as she supervises activities elsewhere by remote control from her kitchen.

The kitchen is the nerve center for still another reason. It is from the kitchen that the food we eat comes. It is the place where the food we eat comes from. It is the place where the food we eat comes from.

Therefore, when the food that comes out of that kitchen fails to be of being well prepared and nutritious, adequate, each one in the family is at a disadvantage and ill equipped to carry on its or her job. Soon they, too, acquire the "tired" feeling.

Since the matter of selecting food at the market can often be the most important factor in assuring a smooth running kitchen, and healthful meals for the family, it would be well for the homemaker to evaluate her method of food selection in the light of becoming a more intelligent buyer.

There are three keys to success in food shopping that can be of much help. These keys are: Wise Planning, Intelligent Selection, and Proper Care.

Though they have been often repeated in the past, they are not idle words to be lightly passed over for reflection at a later time. Now is the time to think on their wisdom and mend our ways accordingly. There are few of us who could not benefit by a critical analysis of our food buying habits from time to time. Such self-searching can well mean time, energy, and money for other activities in 1957.

And there appears to be plenty of room in the American diet for more high quality meat. Contrary to the belief of many Americans are far from being the world's champion meat eaters. In 1955, people in this country averaged eating 107 pounds of meat per person, exclusive of poultry meat. That figure is interesting this year. But, according to the American Meat Institute, the annual meat consumption in Uruguay, New Zealand, Australia, Argentina, is as great as 240 pounds per person.

by Emmet Mitchen Graduate Feeding Advisor

MEAT — A FOOD BARGAIN

American housewives, who have established themselves as shrewd shoppers and food buyers, would be well to consider the bargain that meat is today.

A generation ago, it took the average worker 44 minutes to earn a pound of meat, according to the American Meat Institute. Last year, pork, beef and lamb were produced so efficiently by American farmers that it took a worker only 21 minutes to earn a pound of meat.

This year, according to the Institute, meat is even cheaper at retail, in terms of minutes of work to buy it. A worker today now purchases a pound of meat with only 20 minutes of his labor. In these terms, meat is now the greatest bargain for the housewife that it has ever been in history.

This is a realistic way to measure the economy of meat as a food. It takes the family breadwinner less than half as long to earn a dinner of meat as it did in 1919. As more housewives know these facts, more meat will be consumed.

And there appears to be plenty of room in the American diet for more high quality meat. Contrary to the belief of many Americans are far from being the world's champion meat eaters. In 1955, people in this country averaged eating 107 pounds of meat per person, exclusive of poultry meat. That figure is interesting this year. But, according to the American Meat Institute, the annual meat consumption in Uruguay, New Zealand, Australia, Argentina, is as great as 240 pounds per person.

Meat in this country has never been better in quality, nor a better food investment, than it is today.

HEALTH

You won't see it hanging on your tree. You will see it as you look around at the happy, flushed faces of your children on Christmas morning. It's the precious glow of health.

Many thousands of people have attributed to that glow of health the story of one of the people of the past whose gift to you goes on giving year after year.

Miss Emily Bissell was a Red Cross Worker in Wilmington, Del., in the early part of the century. A group of doctors came to her with a problem. She was that kind of a person. They had a small hospital where they were treating a few tuberculosis patients with the then new methods of rest and fresh air. It was little more than a shack, but even that cost money. And their money had run out. They would have to send the patients home, probably to die, if they couldn't get help.

Emily Bissell had an idea. She had read of a special stamp sold in Denmark to raise money for poor, sick children. So, she designed her own stamps, Christmas Seals that would carry the message that tuberculosis could be defeated. With the help of a few volunteers she began to sell her Seals for a penny apiece. Sales were slow until she went to a great American newspaper for help. The Christmas Seal idea fired the imagination of columnist Leigh Mitchell Hodges, and he persuaded the Philadelphia NORTH AMERICAN to give the campaign its full support.

Miss Bissell and the doctors hoped to raise $300, but $3,000 came in pennies, nickels, dimes, and dollars. Even more important was the recognition that the Christmas Seal idea could be used to fight TB throughout the nation. Today Christmas Seals are sold by 3,000 voluntary tuberculosis associations in every community in the United States and its territories. They support a program of research, case finding, rehabilitation, and health education to help protect your family from tuberculosis.

This was Emily Bissell's gift to you and to all of us. When we buy Christmas Seals, we too, are helping give health to our families, our community, and our nation.

WORTHINGTON

Worthington 4-H Club members met December 11. We had a Christmas program by Jo Ann and the vice president. We had two poems read by Lyn Age and Polly Ann Matherly. Faye Allen read from the Bible, Luke 2:1-7. We sang Christmas carols led by Christy Craigie, our song leader. — Faye Allen, reporter.

Newburg News

By Mrs. J. M. Shively (Delayed)

A birthday anniversary is a glad time. This Christmas season, let us rejoice once again because of the birth of our Savior. Help us to give Him first place in our hearts and observe His birth date as the true Christian spirit by sharing, giving and making others happy.

To the editor and family and the entire Jeffersonian staff, the subscribers and readers, this Christmas is the time to think on their wisdom and mend our ways accordingly. There are few of us who could not benefit by a critical analysis of our food buying habits from time to time. Such self-searching can well mean time, energy, and money for other activities in 1957.

Mr. Dan Johnson and his choir are working hard on the Christmas carols. They will be singing at the Sunday morning service and the Sunday evening concert of Christmas music. Good message Sunday morning by the Rev. E. R. Simrell. Subject, "God with Us."

We missed Mr. and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. W. L. Smith Sunday at church. They are so faithful. They are not sick. Mrs. Emma Hand's sister, Mrs. Herman Lockner, died last week. The church extends sympathy.

Attended my first Christmas party at 1059 in the ever well come home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Kaiser last Tuesday when the Home Missionary Society met there. We are small in number, but big in spirit. Had a good Christmas program of Scripture readings and songs. Then we were invited to partake of a delicious dinner. Mrs. Kaiser's table looked very Christmas and the ever well was very attractive. We played several games and Mrs. O. J. Stivers and Mrs. L. R. Stivers won prizes. We did not exchange gifts this year, but sent the money to the leper colony and other needy causes. Very simple little party.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Solosky entertained their club Saturday night with a pre-Christmas 6 o'clock turkey dinner with all the delicious trimmings. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hart are members of the club. It was indeed an enjoyable occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jones attended their class meeting last week. Of course, the devotional, the recreation and the refreshments had the element and meaning of Christmas.

Robin Hart was Saturday night supper guest at Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold. Larry attended the birthday party of his cousin Friday night.

THE FALLS CITY BOARD OF TRADE INVITES YOU TO THE FALLS CITY TOBACCO MARKET

- Terminal market for tobacco.
- 1 warehouse to serve you.
- Sale at each house each day.
- 1 set of buyers.
- Refractory facilities to handle all tobacco every day.
- Close to use and storage.
- Excellent area for trucks to pick up returns.

This week's crop on premium tobacco, the highest quality tobacco, is more attractive than unprocessed tobacco, and may mean a big profit for the producer. The Falls City Market is the place for the farmer in buying, loading and unloading. Producers can get the best price for their crop in the Falls City Market as any other market will pay for the same grade.

but all had a good time. I like the stock things.

So sorry to hear Mr. Otis Stivers is not so well. Hope to see him back to church and Sunday School soon. They are very faithful and we miss them.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cook, Mrs. H. Shively and Mrs. Phil Frey spent most of the day with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sutherland Saturday. Mrs. Frey worked hard, giving Mrs. Sutherland's home a Christmas going over. It looked spot and span when she got through. We all enjoyed the cheerful list the singing of "Preper," her pet canary.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jones and Mrs. C. R. Hart and a bright little Philip Frey surprised us with a little visit and brought our Christmas presents.

Everyone went to their own churches and came afterward. The day was very scenic. Several lovely girls and a long distance call from Mrs. Jack Quisenberry, Fort Carson, Colo., saying they are being shipped to Germany in February and a nice letter from dad's other wife in Missouri whom we had not heard from in eight years.

I hope all our big Jeffersonian family had a happy Christmas and wish for them a good, safe New Year.

Jefferson County CHECKERBOARD NEWS

by Emmet Mitchen Check-R-Board Feed Store 315 Baxter — Louisville, Ky.

WONT SOMEBODY HELP!

If layers, milk cows and beef cattle could talk, we'd sure they might say, "Wont somebody help us?" This time of year makes us uncomfortable, cut production and many don't even know it. Examine livestock and poultry for lice. Get 'em! One application of Purina Insect Killer often takes care of cattle. For poultry, it's Purina Lice Powder or Purina Insecticide. Get 'em now.

PIG LITTERS TELL MUCH ABOUT SOW FEEDING

The ration a brood sow is fed during gestation shows up in the size, strength and condition of the litter she farrows. If she is not fed properly, small litters often result. In an effort to maintain her own body during pregnancy, she resorts to the tiny embryos... pigs never farrowed.

Watch the sow's weight and condition closely during gestation and see that she gets plenty of Purina Sow & Pig Chow, but don't overfeed. The average sow should gain 100 to 115 lbs. during gestation and farrow lots of big, husky pigs. Are you getting the most from your sows?

Purina Calf Program Stepped Up

This year's Purina Nursing Cow and Calf Starters have been improved, will grow calves 8-10% faster than ever at no increase in cost. If you're feeding the Purina Calf Plan you should be getting calves up to 70 lbs. heavier than average at 4 months. Ask for the Purina Calf Plan... it's right away.

HERE'S YOUR BABY CHECK LIST

A lot of things go into the development of good calves... the kind of chicks you buy, how they are put down, managed and fed. We want you to have this convenient, easy-to-use check list which should help you develop good layers at reasonable cost.

1. Let's talk over your baby chick drinking water. Easy-to-follow directions on the labels.

HEALTH

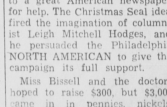

You won't see it hanging on your tree. You will see it as you look around at the happy, flushed faces of your children on Christmas morning. It's the precious glow of health.

Many thousands of people have attributed to that glow of health the story of one of the people of the past whose gift to you goes on giving year after year.

Miss Emily Bissell was a Red Cross Worker in Wilmington, Del., in the early part of the century. A group of doctors came to her with a problem. She was that kind of a person. They had a small hospital where they were treating a few tuberculosis patients with the then new methods of rest and fresh air. It was little more than a shack, but even that cost money. And their money had run out. They would have to send the patients home, probably to die, if they couldn't get help.

Emily Bissell had an idea. She had read of a special stamp sold in Denmark to raise money for poor, sick children. So, she designed her own stamps, Christmas Seals that would carry the message that tuberculosis could be defeated. With the help of a few volunteers she began to sell her Seals for a penny apiece. Sales were slow until she went to a great American newspaper for help. The Christmas Seal idea fired the imagination of columnist Leigh Mitchell Hodges, and he persuaded the Philadelphia NORTH AMERICAN to give the campaign its full support.

THE FREEDOM SCHOOL
By George Peck, chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.

In Colorado, near Colorado Springs, something of great importance is taking place—a school is being built in cooperative fashion, reminiscent of the nation's early days when members of a community joined together in a barn or a house raising.

Freedom School (the name by which it will be known) is the brainchild of Robert LeFevre, currently editorial writer for the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph. The aim of the school, which will be opened in June, will be to produce thinking adults who will be immune to the sugar-coated propaganda of our present-day so-called liberals.

One course only will be offered at first—this will attempt to teach the "libertarian" philosophy, which advocates the idea that man is a free creature, able to govern himself economically and socially. The libertarians believe and teach that man should have freedom to make choices relating to himself, freedom to act as he chooses and should be responsible for all his actions.

Additional courses will be added in the future and eventually the school will offer studies in history, political science, economics and other related subjects. But no student will be permitted to take these latter courses until he has mastered the libertarian teachings.

Meaning Lost
What led Robert LeFevre to project this school? He has been listening to the military forces in World War II, he began to question what students were learning in most of today's schools. He felt that the real meaning of freedom was being lost to the student; that they were being spoon-fed ideas which made them easy victims for the patterns of philosophy of the social and economic planners.

LeFevre thought something should be done about it. After talking with other libertarians who unanimously agreed that freedom should be taken, but each of whom had his own pet theory as to what that action should be, LeFevre and his wife, Lois, came up with the idea of a school to teach the principles of freedom as voiced by the Founding Fathers in the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

And that idea is rapidly developing into a reality. The pleasant fall days witnessed men and women working together in building the Freedom School, located in Glenwood Park, Colorado. Site of the school is an old camp, the cabins of which are old and some must be taken down. Sunday workers, including both LeFevres, armed with hammers and crowbars have leveled three of the cabins—the lumber and nails have been conserved for use in the planned construction work.

There still remains plenty to be done. Cabins must be constructed to house the students. Two buildings are already completed but a third, to contain the principal lecture hall is just emerging from the blueprint stage. The LeFevres are looking forward to the time when a library and chapel will be built. A stable suitable for horses and cattle is also in the construction plans for the school.

Many Contributed
Who is financing the project? Fortunately, the LeFevres have a lot of other people who agreed that the Freedom School should be launched and who dug deeply into their pockets to contribute to the school fund.

And who are backing the project, morally as well as financially? To direct the building of the school and its eventual operation, a board of directors was named. Present board members are Robert and Lois LeFevre, Ruth Dazey, Marjorie Lewellen, Edith Shank, Robert Donner and Robert B. Rapp.

Backing up the Board of Directors is a National Board of Fellows, recruited from over the nation and from a variety of lines of work. Space does not permit listing here this long list, but numbered among its members are: Nathaniel Taylor, Caldwell and Miss Corinne Griffin, a former screen star whose fight against income taxes has made front page news in recent years. This reporter is proud to be listed as a member of this national Board of Fellows of the Freedom School.

The story of the Freedom School is too big to be told in the few words permitted to me here. Undoubtedly there will be many questions come to your mind. Why not ask them? The school will be open to the public to address your inquiry to The Freedom School, Box 165, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

County Home News
By Mrs. Ida Carriehers
At the County Home, Jeffersontown, we had a new Christmas party Wednesday night, December 19. There was a large crowd present and the Christmas tree was beautiful.

We want to thank Bro. Charlie Irwin and the Rotary Club for sponsoring our party. Also Father Lammie and Bro. Coleman, and Dr. Clarkson and Santa Claus for handing us the presents from the tree.

We all appreciate them so much, and we want to thank Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Settler, Mrs. Marie Laet, the First family and Mrs. Bainbridge Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. George Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Ruth and the friends of Mr. Edward Kane for their gifts to the residents.

Bro. John Pound, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Scholing, Sr. and Rudolph Scholing, Jr., and his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Hays, Miss Helen Lamaster, Mr. Wooden came to home Sunday afternoon for services. We all enjoyed the good message and songs.

We appreciate the Youth Group from the Christian Church in Jeffersontown singing the carols for us Sunday night.

Eastern High School students visited us Wednesday morning. They have a wonderful choir and sang carols and gave each of us a nice gift. We all thank them so much.

NEW STATION OPENED
Members of the Harrods Creek Volunteer Fire Department were hosts to visitors Saturday as the department's second station at Line Kiln Lane and River Road was formally opened. An 1870 model fire engine, mounted on two wheels, was on display and drew about as much attention as the new gleaming red fire fighting apparatus.

APPOINTMENT OF ROBERT J. HIGGINS
Appointment of Robert J. Higgins, New Cut Road, and Chris Locke, Club Hill Drive, as members of the Abundant-Fairdale water district was announced Wednesday by County Judge Bertram C. Van Arsdale. Higgins and Locke replace Elmer Mason, 5440 Southview Road, and Edward Jundert, 2130 Newburg Road, respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Mitchell, 600 Tucker Station Road, are the proud parents of another son, Kenneth Otto Mitchell, born December 11. This makes a total of three boys, Robert Alan, Lewis Scott and Kenneth Otto.

The Christmas musical program at the First Baptist Church, Sunday, December 16, was given in a packed house. There were 41 in the three choirs, 20 in the Primary Choir, which gave two numbers; 41 in the Junior Choir, 20 in the Senior Adult Choir, which gave six numbers. The combined choirs sang two songs. There was also a ladies trio by Mrs. A. L. Butler, Miss Peggy Sue Garrett and Mrs. Sheldon Ross. Narrator was the Rev. John E. Clark and Mr. C. Finley Williams was organist.

Mr. A. L. Butler was the general director and Mrs. Butler was director of the Primary Choir and also their accompanist. Mrs. Fred Graves was Junior Choir accompanist. The Junior and Primary Choir mothers are also present.

Mrs. M. C. Pitt, Mrs. Sheldon Ruck, Mrs. William A. Noel, Mrs. J. T. Whitaker, Mrs. F. C. Keebler and Mrs. Joe Moore.

Real estate will continue active, but fewer new houses will be built. Houses will be sold by existing owners. There will be no new well-paid jobs.

25. Purchasers will give more attention to the size of the house than to the price. Better homes can be secured by buying existing houses. Modern kitchen will become a must.

26. Acreage near popular shopping centers will be expensive. Speculation in real estate will continue to rise. There will be real estate prices, helping some locations and hurting others.

27. New investments in construction with heating, lighting and other features will make most older houses obsolete.

28. Large commercial farms will continue prosperous. Small farms on the fringes of cities will be sold. The price of land will be high. The price of land will be high. The price of land will be high.

High View News

By Mrs. Joe Spotts

Bro. Schaeffer brought a wonderful message Sunday on how we should celebrate every Sunday. The Lord's Supper is to be in the house of worship regularly. Christmas is a happy time of the year, but so many celebrate in other ways and leave Christ out of the picture. A large crowd was present at church Sunday and Sunday School. The church is glad to see some of the sick out again.

Springdale News

By Mrs. Anna

The women of Springdale Presbyterian Church held their annual meeting last Thursday. Reports for the year were given and the new officers for the coming year were installed. Mrs. Bayless Brenner gave a very interesting talk on the church. Those who were installed were Mrs. Herbert Edwards, president; Mrs. Bayless Brenner, vice president; Mrs. Carl Adams, secretary; Mrs. Bruce Campbell, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Smith, secretary of spiritual growth; Mrs. Fulton Tipton, women's mission; Mrs. John Long church extension; Mrs. Horace Mahoney, Christian education; Mrs. R. M. Peppan, annuities and relief; Mrs. Bayless Brenner, stewardship; and Mrs. M. Greiner, general fund agencies.
